TRIBE BY THE NUMBERS

15.5 — W&M leads the CAA with 15.5 assists per game. The Tribe has 450 assists this season.

16 — Senior Bianca Boggs now has 16 career 20-point performances. With her next 20-point game she will move into a tie for fifth place in W&M history.

65 — The Tribe's senior class of Bianca Boggs, Misha Jones, Chandler Smith have helped the Tribe to 65 victories, which is the second-most in school history.

70 — 70 seems to be a magic number under Swanson. W&M has reached that mark 50 times under Swanson, and has posted a 41-9 mark when it scores more than 70 points.

92% — Since the start of CAA play, Eva Hodgson is shooting 89.6-percent from the free throw. She has connected on 46-of-50 from the stripe in the past 18 games.

294 — Freshman Eva Hodgson has scored 277 points this season, which is good for eighth among W&M freshman all-time. She needs 16 more to move into sixth all-time.

489 — Boggs is in third place in single-season school history for scoring. She is 34 points away from breaking the school record of 522 single-season points.

1414 — Boggs now has 1,414 career points, and is sixth in school history in scoring. She is 90 points away from fifth place all-time.

W&M NEWS AND NOTES

• The William & Mary women's basketball team opens play in its 36th Colonial Athletic Association Women's Basketball Tournament in search of its first-ever title. The Tribe earned the No. 7 seed and will take on the No. 10 seed Charleston Cougars on Wednesday afternoon in a first round match-up. Tip-off from the Bob Carpenter Center in Newark, Del. is set for 2:30 p.m.

• W&M and Charleston meet for the 23rd time in program history on Wednesday afternoon, but it is the first time the two teams will meet in the CAA Tournament. The Tribe holds a 13-9 advantage in the all-time series, but the Cougars won both regular-season games this season. CofC picked up a 66-54 victory in Kaplan Arena on Jan. 13, before winning a thriller in double-overtime 79-77 at TD Arena in Charleston on Feb. 8.

• The Tribe is the seventh seed in the CAA for the 10th time in program history, which is the team's most frequent seed. W&M is 2-9 all-time as a seven seed, and it is the second time the Tribe has been the seven seed under Ed Swanson (0-1).

• Senior Bianca Boggs and freshman Eva Hodgson were honored by the CAA with postseason awards the league announced on Tuesday afternoon. For the second straight year, Boggs was named to the league's first-team and the all-defensive team. She led the Tribe with 16.9 points per game, 6.9 rebounds, and 4.1 assists. Hodgson was the fourth W&M player in school history to be named the CAA Rookie of the Year after scoring 10.1 points, 2.9 rebounds, and 3.1 assists per game.

• The Tribe's senior class – Bianca Boggs, Misha Jones, and Chandler Smith – are one win away from tying the school record for the winningest class. The trio has helped the Tribe to 65 wins over their four-year careers.

• First-Team All-CAA selection Bianca Boggs has been in double-figures in 25 of 29 games this season and has accomplished that feat in 50 of her last 59 contests. The senior captain leads the team with 16.9 points per night and has added 6.9 rebounds and 4.2 assists per night. The senior has turned in 16 20-point career games, which ranks her tied for sixth all-time in school history. She notched her second career 30-point game with a season-high 32 points at Drexel on March 1. Boggs became the first player in school history to record at least 1000 points, 500 rebounds, and 300 career assists at Delaware on March 3. The Waldorf, Md. native also earned CAA All-Defensive Team honors for the second straight years after recording 70 steals and 28 blocks.

• CAA Rookie of the Year Eva Hodgson has started every game this season and the returns on the freshman point guard have been good. The freshman has been in double-figures in 16 games. For the season, Hodgson is averaging 10.1 points per game (most among CAA freshman), with 2.9 rebounds, and 3.1 helpers per contest. Hodgson scored a career-high 24 points at UNCW on Feb. 10. Her 83.8-percent from the free throw line ranks her third in the CAA, while her 1.2 assists/turnover ratio is good for eighth.

• The Green and Gold is limiting its opponents to 28.7-percent (145-of-505) from 3-point range this season. W&M limited Drexel to a season-low 7-percent (2-for-28) from 3-point range in the win on March 1. The Tribe ranks third in the league in the category, but that is also good enough for 44th nationally.

• W&M has moved its free throw percentage back to first in the CAA shooting 75.5-percent from the stripe and ranks 29th in the country. The Tribe shot a perfect 16-for-16 from the line at James Madison on Jan. 25, which was the first time the Tribe was perfect from the line (minimum 8 attempts) since 2016.

• The Green and Gold is hitting 3-pointers at the highest clip under Ed Swanson this season and has had five, or more, 3-pointers in 26 of its 29 games. W&M ranks first in the CAA hitting 7.5 3-pointers per game. That mark is two more than the next best average in the six-years under Swanson. As a team, the Tribe is hitting 35.6-percent from range, which is second in the CAA, and 44th in the NCAA. Furthermore, W&M has hit more than 10 3-pointers in seven games this season.

• Senior Misha Jones has put together a career year in her final season with her senior day game going down as her most memorable game to date. The senior finished the game with a career-high 20 points on 5-of-8 from the field and 4-of-7 from 3-point range against Hofstra on March 11. Jones has had a breakout season for the Tribe scoring a career-high 125 points, grabbing 56 rebounds, and handing out 33 assists. After suffering two major injuries that cost her, her sophomore season, the Manassas Park, Va. native has seen action in 84 career games with four starts.

• Junior Victoria Reynolds wrapped up the regular season second on the team in scoring, averaging 10.7 points per game for the Tribe. Reynolds has added 5.3 rebounds, 2.3 assists, and 1.3 steals per game during her junior season. The junior ranks sixth all-time in school history in free throw percentage (.779) and 10th in field goal percentage (.466).

• For the first time this season, W&M put five players in double-figures in the win against Hofstra on March 11. Misha Jones (20), Eva Hodgson (17), Victoria Reynolds (15), Bianca Boggs (11), and Gabby Rogers (10) were all in double-figures. It was the first time since Jan. 26, 2018 that the Tribe accomplished that feat. Furthermore, W&M is 5-3 in games when at least four players score in double-figures.

• W&M set a school record for field-goal-percentage in the setback against Northeastern on March 9. The Tribe shot a red-hot 64.3-percent (27-for-42) from the floor in the contest. The game has been part of a strong shooting stretch that has seen the Tribe connected on 50-percent or better in four of the last six games. W&M ranks second in the CAA with 41.8-percent from the field this year.

• Freshman Eva Hodgson tied a school record with her four CAA Rookie of the Week Awards this season. The freshman joins Kyra Kaylor and Dominique Lewis as the only Tribe players to win the award four times since its inception in the 2002-03 season. W&M won six weekly awards this season with senior Bianca Boggs being named CAA Player of the Week for the week of Dec. 31 and freshman Emma Krause earning rookie of the week honors for the week of Dec. 24.

• W&M played its second overtime game of the season at Drexel on March 1. Both overtime games have required more than one extra session, as the Tribe is 1-1 in overtime this year. W&M played its first triple-overtime game since Nov. 27, 1999, and has handed Drexel it is only two more than one-overtime losses in its program history.

• The Green and Gold has eight players - Bianca Boggs, Victoria Reynolds, Eva Hodgson, Harper Birdsong, Gabby Rogers, Nyla Pollard, Emma Krause, and Misha Jones - have all eclipsed the 100-point mark on the season this year. In the previous five seasons under head coach Ed Swanson, only seven players have accomplished this feat in a single-season. -

Ed Swanson enters his sixth season with the Green and Gold. He became the fifth Division I head women's basketball coach in William and Mary history on May 7, 2013. Prior to coming to Williamsburg, he spent 23 years transforming Sacred Heart University from a Division II program into a one of the top teams in the Northeast Conference. Swanson owns a career record of 464-327 (.587).

The success continued for the Tribe during the 2017-18 season. W&M won 16 games, which is tied for the fourth most in school history, and posted its second straight winning season for the first time since 2005-06 and 2006-07. His first recruiting class became the winningest class in school history with the team's victory over College of Charleston on Jan. 26. The seniors went onto win 66 games during their four year career. The Tribe raced out to an 11-2 start for the third straight season, which equaled the best 13-game start in school history, and led the CAA in blocked shots (218) and blocked shots per game (7.3), which ranked fourth and third in the NCAA, respectively. Both numbers are single-season school records. Individually, he mentored three players to five All-CAA awards, including All-CAA First-Team selection Bianca Boggs, who became the first Tribe player in a decade to be named to the league's first-team. Additionally, Boggs was named to the league's all-defensive team, while Abby Rendle claimed a spot on the All-CAA Third-Team, and All-Defensive Team, and freshman Nyla Pollard was picked to the CAA All-Rookie team.

Swanson led the Tribe to one of its best seasons in program history in 2016-17. The Tribe tied a school record with 20 wins, while winning a CAA Tournament game for the first time since 2009, and advancing to the CAA Semifinals for the first-time since 2001. Under his leadership, the Tribe won 11-straight games, which is the longest single-23056season streak in school history, from Nov. 18, 2016-Jan. 2, 2017. W&M had four players claim seven all-conference awards this season, including seniors Alexandra Masaquel and Marlena Tremba, who each earned second-team citations. Additionally, Masaquel was tabbed the Richmond Times-Dispatch All-State Second-Team, while Tremba earned VaSID All-State Second-Team honors. For his efforts, VaSID honored him as the Virginia State Coach of the Year.

Once again Swanson's third season was one for the record books. The Tribe raced out to its best start in school history with an 11-2 record. W&M went onto again to win the fourth most wins in school history with 15. For the second straight season the Tribe broke the blocks and assist record, by tying the single season assist record (466) and broke the school record for blocks with 148. During the season junior Marlena Tremba became the 15th player in school history to break the 1000-point barrier. Individually, four players earned All-CAA awards as junior Alexandra Masaquel was tabbed to the second-team and all-defensive team, Tremba eared third-team honors, and freshman Bianca Boggs picked up a spot on the all-rookie team. The Tribe was also rewarded for its hard work in the classroom as Masaquel, Tremba, and sophomore Jenna Green earned all-academic team honors.

Swanson's second year with the Green and Gold was one for the record books. The Tribe racked up 15 wins, the fourth-most in school history, on its way to its first-ever postseason appearances with bid in the Women's Basketball Invitational. The Green and Gold had a seven-win turnaround, while setting three school records for assists (466), blocked shots, (143), blocked shots per game (4.5). Individually he helped lead four players to five All-CAA awards. Sophomore Marlena Tremba was named to the All-CAA Third-Team, senior Jazmen Boone was named to the All-Defensive Team, freshman Abby Rendle to the All-Rookie and All-Defensive team, and senior Kyla Kerstetter earned all-academic honors.

In his first season with the Tribe, Swanson led a young team to eight victories in a seven-seed in the CAA Tournament. The Green and Gold finished in the top 10 nationally in steals per game, while Jazmen Boone also ranked in the top 20 in the NCAA in the same category. Under his guidance Kaitlyn Mathieu garnered Third-Team All-Colonial Athletic Association honors, and went on to sign a professional contract with a team in Germany. In addition, guard Marlena Tremba went onto win CAA Rookie of the Year, and was named to the all-rookie squad. Boone was named to the all-defensive team, while she and Kyla Kerstetter took home all-academic honors.

Swanson oversaw Sacred Heart's transition from Division II to Division I in 1999-00, and the program took off under his direction. Over Sacred Heart's 14 years in Division I, Swanson led SHU to a 280-145 record (.664), including a 190-62 (.754) record in the NEC. He departed as the NEC's all-time winningest head coach with all of his SHU teams finishing third or higher in the league standings. Swanson-lead teams have posted 13 straight winning seasons and 12 straight campaigns with 18 or more victories, including six with 20 or more wins. In 2009, he was inducted into the New England Basketball Hall of Fame.

In total, Swanson-coached players earned 19 All-NEC honors, including nine first-team awards, nine NEC All-Tournament Team honors, eight NEC All-Rookie Team selections, four NEC Rookies of the Year, three NEC Tournament MVPs and three NEC Players of the Year.

His teams have also enjoyed success in the classroom. On five occasions, the Pioneers were selected to the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA) Academic Top 25 Team Honor Roll, which has recognized outstanding academic performances from the top teams in each of the five collegiate divisions since 1995-96. On eight occasions since 2003, one of his players was a CoSIDA Academic All-District selection and two Pioneer players were named NEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

In 2012-13, Swanson led Sacred Heart to its third straight postseason appearance, and in the process, recorded his 400th career victory. His milestone win came on Feb. 12, 2013 as the Pioneers defeated Fairleigh Dickinson. SHU completed the season at 22-11, finishing second in the NEC with a 13-5 ledger and garnering a berth in the program's first Women's National Invitational Tournament (WNIT).

Sacred Heart claimed its third NEC Championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament in 2011-12. The Pioneers also ranked 23rd nationally in the WBCA Academic Top 25 Team Honor Roll with a team GPA of 3.35. SHU compiled a season mark to 25-8, winning both the regular season and postseason crowns in the league as Swanson was named NEC Coach of the Year for the fourth time.

The Pioneers earned a berth in the 2011 Women's Basketball Invitational and finished the year at 18-13 with a 12-6 mark in the NEC. After a 0-5 start to the 2008-09 season, Swanson's Pioneers reeled off a 21-game winning streak, the longest in school history and second longest in the country, before finishing with 25-8 record. SHU completed the NEC regular season with a perfect 18-0 mark, becoming just the third team in the history of the conference to accomplish the feat. Swanson earned NEC Coach of the Year honors as Sacred Heart finished off an amazing season by capturing its second league title and trip to the NCAA Tournament over a four-year span. During the 2008-09 season, Swanson moved past former Mount St. Mary's head coach Bill Sheahan (124) as all-time leader in Northeast Conference wins and eclipsing the 300-win plateau in his career.

The 2005-06 season saw Swanson lead the Sacred Heart program to its first NCAA Tournament, capturing the NEC Championship in just its seventh season at the Division I level. Swanson guided the Pioneers to a school record 26-5 record, including a 16-2 NEC ledger. He also garnered career victory No. 250 during the season.

Under his leadership, Sacred Heart was one of the toughest teams on its home court, the William H. Pitt Center, which opened in 1997. During the Pitt Center's opening 16 seasons, Swanson's teams won 81.9 percent (185-41) of its home games. In 2011-12, SHU went 15-1 at home, a season bested only by a perfect 15-0 in 2005-06 and 14-0 in 2003-04. During the stretch, the Pioneers' home winning percentage at the Pitt Center ranked among the best nationally.

After directing the Pioneers to a 20-7 record — the program's first 20-win season — in 1995-96, Swanson was voted Coach of the Year in the New England Collegiate Conference (NECC) and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association's (WBCA) District I.

Swanson took the reins of the Sacred Heart University women's basketball program in 1990 and built the Pioneers into one of the top teams in the Northeast. He joined Dave Bike's men's basketball coaching staff at SHU in 1989, and, after becoming head coach of the Pioneer women's program in 1990, did double duty for three seasons before becoming the University's first full-time women's coach in 1993. Prior to Swanson's arrival, the Sacred Heart women's team compiled a 4-21 record. Under his guidance, the climb to Division II respectability was accomplished within three seasons, from 8-19 to 11-16 and, in 1992-93, to 16-13 — the program's first winning record in 11 seasons.

In his time at SHU, he was a four-time NEC Coach of the Year, led Sacred Heart to five postseason bids, including three NCAA Tournament appearances. Swanson guided the Pioneers to four NEC regular season crowns and three NEC tournament championships. SHU posted 20-win seasons seven times during his tenure, including five of the last eight years.

He earned a bachelor's degree in business from Sacred Heart in 1989. Also during his tenure at SHU, Swanson served as the moderator for the Pioneer Student-Athlete Council from 1998-01 and was the annual coordinator of commencement exercises since 2000. Swanson and his wife, Marion, have two sons, Connor and Matthew.

Bianca Boggs is William & Mary's total package

By Dave Johnson

There are 349 women's basketball teams in NCAA Division I. Multiply that by 12, a conservative estimate for names on each roster, and there are nearly 4,200 players across the nation.

Only six of them lead their team in points, rebounds, assists, steals and blocked shots. One of them is William and Mary senior Bianca Boggs, who eventually came to recognize that on most nights she's the best player on the floor.

Going into Friday night's matchup against UNC Wilmington, Boggs is averaging 16.9 points, 6.9 rebounds, 4.0 assists, 2.5 steals and 1.2 blocked shots per game. She has that complete-player style you'd expect of someone who grew up studying Candace Parker and Kristi Toliver.

"I've always been taught that basketball isn't just about scoring," Boggs said, "that you can affect the game in different ways. My dad always drove that into my head."

"That definitely means a lot because I do pour a lot of energy into every aspect of the game. For it to show up statistically is pretty cool."

Though she didn't reach quadruple digits in her high school career, Boggs has scored 1,145 points in less than 3 ½ seasons at William and Mary. That places her 15th on the Tribe's all-time scoring list.
With at least 18 games remaining in her senior year, Boggs is on pace to overtake Ashleigh Akens for sixth. She has a realistic chance of cracking the top five.

The ability was always there. Boggs, a 5-foot-8 guard from Waldorf, Md., just had to realize she had it.

"I think back to her sophomore year when we were at Old Dominion," W&M coach Ed Swanson said. "She had 18 points and (six) rebounds, and a friend of mine who is a Division I coach called me. He said, 'Does Bianca know she's the best player on the court?'

"I said, 'No, she doesn't, and that's the problem.' Now she does. Now she takes the floor with that confidence and the responsibility that comes with being the best player on the floor."
In her first two seasons, Boggs played on a veteran team led by Marlena Tremba and Alexandra Masaquel. She was a starter from day one, but Boggs played the role of a complementary scorer.

As a junior last season, with Tremba and Masaquel having graduated, Boggs doubled her scoring average to 15.2 points a game. Lest there be any doubt that she had the goods, she had 26 points and 11 rebounds, both career highs, in the season opener against Howard.

Boggs has become, in Swanson's words, "the face of the program." And that's not just because of what she does on the floor.

In the classroom, Boggs carries a 3.28 grade-point average. Curious about the Earth and climate change, she is majoring in geology. After graduating in May, she's considering graduate school for her master's in engineering.

As the secretary of her sorority, Zeta Phi Beta, she is involved in several community projects. Among them: Cleaning an area of Ironbound Road for Adopt a Spot, visiting retirement homes, and raising money for the American Cancer Society and March of Dimes.

Along with Paul Rowley from W&M's men's team, Boggs was selected as one of 30 national candidates for the Senior CLASS Award. The honor focuses on an athlete's total picture in competition, the classroom, character, and the community.

"Like I try to be a well-rounded player, I try to be a well-rounded person," Boggs said. "For it to be recognized that I do well in the classroom and well on the court and try to make a difference in the community was really cool."
The recognition didn't surprise Swanson.

"I could talk about her for hours, really," he said. "This is the type of person we're looking for. She's a great ambassador for our program.

"When recruits come to visit our campus and maybe watch practice, I point to her. I point to her and say, 'That's what we're looking for right there.'"

Former Conant High star finds a home on college court in Virginia

By: Michael M. McMahon

Basketball has always provided a path for Eva Hodgson. The game launched her into an uncharted map covered with winding, bumpy roads. Her destination was always clear though, bubbling in the back of her mind. She wanted to stand out.

But she didn't want the way laid out for her. Rather, she wanted to forge her own way.

She has paved her way from the back roads of Route 124 to the bright lights of the Colonial Athletic Conference, and into the starting five as a freshman for the Division I William & Mary women's basketball team.

The 5-foot-10 point guard has played in 18 games for the Tribe, starting every one of them, and is averaging 8.7 points per game.

To know how Hodgson came to average 30 minutes a night as a freshman, you have to know a little about her past.
Rindge is a small-town hoops haven, where local legends live on forever in the form of tapestries hung inside the dimly-lit Pratt Auditorium at Conant High School in neighboring Jaffrey.

You have to know her family, rich in basketball tradition. Her parents, Gregory and Sherree, played Division III ball in college. Her older brothers helped bring numerous state championships to town. Hodgson is one of seven siblings, with four older brothers, one of whom, Ezra, played college basketball at Plattsburgh State in upstate New York.
Hodgson set a goal in middle school: play college basketball.

"It was in my blood. That was what I was supposed to be doing," Hodgson said of her basketball lineage. "It's something I fell in love with quickly, being able to watch my brothers play."

But that lineage also posed an early challenge: Hodgson wanted to make her own name.

She did just that, helping the Orioles to their sixth girls' state championship as a freshman. She then left Conant for New Hampton School, where the guard refined her skills while leading New Hampton to the NEPSAC Class AA final as a senior.

Division I colleges came calling.

She was recruited by a couple of Ivy League colleges, but decided on William & Mary in Williamsburg, Va., for its academic reputation, and for another reason that perhaps encapsulates her best.

The Tribe, 11-7, never have won a conference championship and never have appeared in the NCAA Tournament.

"I want to be a part of the first," Hodgson said. "That's something we say every day. That is something that drives us. That would be huge and to appear in the NCAA; that's something that would go down in history."

Along the way, she has found her game as a solid offensive contributor with a strong shot. She plays with emotion and high-energy, and often is the first to pick a teammate up off the floor. Rare is the moment she is not communicating. She calls herself "personable" on the floor.

That ability to communicate and connect has helped her gain trust from her coaches and teammates. Losing their starting point guard to graduation coming into the season, Tribe Coach Ed Swanson knew Hodgson was responsible enough to run the point on day one.

"She is a tough kid," Swanson said. "You can knock her down and she rises to the challenge, and I think that is what keeps her out there that long. … You raise the bar and she goes after it.

"She is just scratching the surface for how good she is going to be," Swanson added. "The intangibles — you can't measure it on the stats sheet. The players have confidence in her, the upperclassmen. And that is something that you don't always see in a freshman."

The transition hasn't been easy, however. Hodgson has had to learn something with every new move she makes. She has risen from high school to prep, prep to AAU, and now to the college ranks, where teams study her every move on film. Not to mention that Hodgson is a college freshman, adjusting to life on her own, 600 hundred miles from home.

"Not having my comfort zone, I have had some breakdowns," Hodgson said. "I am thankful for it. My family is always going to be there, they are always going to support me. …

"But in order to grow," she said. "I had to go away."

So, while Hodgson has set out on her own path, determined to go farther and be bolder, she still keeps the lessons she learned under the shadow of Mount Monadnock tucked close to her chest. She's pulls them out in the tough times, easing her mind on those long bus rides.

"Growing up our parents told us this sport was a privilege," Hodgson said. "I thank God for the opportunities, even on the hardest days. I have had hard days in the past, but I look back on what basketball has given me. I'm grateful."
